

Oliu by Credivera

Oliu, by Credivera, provides a complete digital identity verification and authentication solution.

Users confirm their identity using government-issued ID, bank account or telecom information to facilitate layered identity verification.

Once users are verified, Credivera helps organizations issue and manage verifiable credentials. Credivera is putting verifiable credentials to work, enabling employees, employers, and organizations that issue credentials to increase productivity, privacy and control over how important credentials are issued, stored and shared.

Oliu is interoperable, customizable, and flexible; catering to organizations that demand a higher level of user identity verification in their onboarding process.
